Prayer Requests:

From Alice Heine. I had my visit with the cardiologist on Monday. I took the printed test results in and asked him to interpret for me. Where it showed my heart strength was 50 % he said normal was 55%.The only thing he seemed concerned about was a very slight irregular heart beat - the upper chambers were not quite in sync with the lower chambers. He said we would watch that and I should come back in a year. I have no Px restrictions and plan to continue my usual normal activities. No medications are required. Please thank the brethren for their prayers and I am feeling good with just a slight irregular heartbeat.

Prayer Request Update - Isaac Vierra (John Barbush Nephew). Samuel and Amy Vierra share this update about the ongoing recovery for their son Isaac, who suffered a severe injury to his left hand in February: "This week, God has heard our prayers for healing and lower pain levels. Isaac's wounds are continuing to show progress and his pain levels are down from an 8 to a 6. He has surgery scheduled Monday for the removal of the 5 pins in his hand. Post-surgery, he will have elevated pain levels for a week or so. After this surgery, we are hopeful that the next surgery won't be until late May or early June. Isaac's spirits are lifted by the heartfelt cards we receive every day. Thank you so much for your love, concern and outpouring of prayers to our Father in Heaven!"
